October 2015

From the Mayor's Desk

This past month has given me cause to reflect on what community really means. The recent floods and the loss of lives brought several communities into one large borderless community. I was able to attend the memorial service held in Maxwell Park over in Hildale, the same place where the devastating floods took place. The expression of gratitude for the hundreds who pitched in to help was abounding. The mayor of Hildale, Mayor Barlow, said the words "Thank you" were not adequate to express the feelings and emotions in Hildale. I know many here fixed food that was sent over to help feed those that were involved.

Here in Zion many people dropped what they were doing to help the Park search for the hikers. Each group did what they could to help. Food, rooms and comfort were extended to the families of the victims. In both situations, it didn't matter if people knew the ones they were helping or not. If there was a need people were there to fill that need. That is what a community does – help others in time of need.

We were still addressing the last problem when the rock slide closed off traffic through the Park. Once again many people jumped in to make sure the road reopened as soon as possible. Many extra hours were spent trying to solve the problem.

The music festival was held at the end of September. It was a chance for the community to join together, spend time, and enjoy a wonderful event. Again, many people dedicated their talents and resources to make it happen. The music festival was very successful. The success is the community coming together and enjoying each other.

Last month I held the first "Brown Bag" lunch. It was good to meet with several towns people and discuss the concerns they had. I thank Supt. Bradybaugh for attending and taking questions. This month I want to invite you all to another "Brown Bag" lunch to be held at the gazebo October 19th at noon. It will be another opportunity for us to come out and connect as community.

Mayor Stan Smith

Police Corner

I would like to thank the residents and employees of Springdale for taking a little extra time when driving the canyon road, and also for calling the officers when they see aggressive driving. Please keep passing the word and calling the police. The Springdale Police will continue to patrol the canyon road stopping tourists for going too slow and others for going too fast and passing vehicles. As the weather will be changing and we roll into the fall season, there will be more deer crossing the road in the early morning hours as well as the late night hours. Please watch out and be careful when driving.

Also Halloween is approaching. Parents remember to watch your children when they are out trick-or-treating, especially in front of driveways and as they cross the road. It's always a good idea to have some reflective stickers and some flashlights when your children are out and about.

The police department has teamed up with the fire department to have a Red Ribbon day at the elementary school on October 21st. We have a few activities planned, and we will be talking to the children about safety, drugs, 911, and fire safety. Also with the help of the Pizza Noodle, Mega-pro, and the Police and Fire Departments we purchased school shirts for the kids. This should be a great event!

As always, thank you for the support that you continue to give to our great police department.

WHY RECYCLE?

Let's look at the choice between recycling and not, using an aluminum can:

What does it mean if we toss this aluminum can?

Some may think it's no big deal to toss a can. It doesn't take up much room in the landfill, right? It's not about the landfill. If we lose aluminum to the landfill, we have to replace it. Here's what that entails:

- We need more bauxite ore, the raw material used to make aluminum, so we have to go to rainforests or other ecosystems in places like Australia, China, Brazil and Indonesia.
- To produce just ONE ton of aluminum, we're going to have to mine for 4-7 tons of bauxite.
- We need to strip mine the land, removing the nutrient-rich top soil to get to the ore just below the surface.
- Where there is a forest, we need to clear-cut it and burn the slash, creating climate-changing carbon dioxide.
- The ecosystem and habitat are destroyed. Without trees or topsoil, major run-off occurs, polluting nearby waterways.
- Native people who live in or nearby the area are robbed of critical natural resources, including water, and are potentially displaced.
- The ore is then shipped all the way to Iceland for manufacture before it's shipped again to distributors around the world.

What does it mean if we recycle this aluminum can?

We can fight climate change, reduce water pollution, save energy and prevent habitat destruction for humans and animals, all in one little can. Here's how:

- We can prevent all of the destruction and greenhouse gas emissions of bauxite ore mining.
- We can save 95% of the energy it takes to make one can from bauxite ore—enough energy to power your TV for 3 hours.
- Recycled aluminum is kept in U.S., creating jobs.
- The can will be back on the shelf in less than 60 days.
- We'd have no need to mine for ore since aluminum can be recycled indefinitely!

Not bad for one little can.

And that's just the story behind an aluminum can.

Once you know what lies behind all the products and packaging of our lives—the paper, plastic, steel and glass—you realize how important it is that we each choose the simple act of recycling to do our part for the environment and our economy.
